

TASMANINDUSTRIES is preparing for COVID-19

The rapid spread and rising cases of COVID-19 – the novel coronavirus – is of concern to us all as news headlines about the pandemic and the worlds response are evolving daily.

We'd like to reassure you that we are taking the spread of Coronavirus very seriously and are doing our part to help stop the spread of the virus. We know this is a difficult and fluid situation but we want you to know our number one priority is the safety and wellbeing of our people and customers, supporting the wider community, providing a safe and clean business environment and we will do everything we can to help.

We want to reassure you that we are not anticipating any significant interruption to the continuity of supply of our products to your business as a result of COVID-19 virus.

To ensure we make timely decisions and act when needed we are staying well informed of the developing situation and are following the advice and recommendations from the Government, Public Health England and the World Health Organisation. To ensure we can provide the best service possible we are continually reviewing the ever changing situation and have communicated our COVID-19 policy to all staff in our offices; implementing safe and hygienic practises with cleaning regimes including thorough and frequent handwashing and use of disposable gloves when serving customers. We have also increased our cleaning, particularly for those areas touched regularly by team members and customers.

Finally, to help minimise the spread of the virus, we are following the latest Government recommendations

Thank you for your support and we look forward to continued business with you while we commit to you that our actions will be remain responsible, clear and adaptive to the ever-changing situation.